His Minute - in recommendation that the orders of the Supreme Government which direct the Banishment of the Mutineers be enforced without delay - The Commander in Chief submits his reasons for the adoption of Energy and promptness in the case of these persons, and regrets that it should be thought necessary to give the least suspension to the Operation of the orders received. 135. 131. 109. His Minute - encloses papers from the Quarter Master General relative to the Movement of the Princes' families from Vellore and on the subject of the rewards to be conferred upon Mahomed Gullop and Shaik Naitter for the Communication of Important information Connected with the misconduct of the 1st & 6th Regiments Native Infantry 163. 165. 137. His Minute - lamenting that under the necessity which he feels of answering the Minute of the President, he has not, from the impending departure of the dispatch, sufficient time to give to so important a subject. It seems to be inferred from the alleged necessity of a Police that the Natives are under a Suspicion which did not formerly attach to them - The Commander in Chief expresses generally his Opinion that the adoption of the Civil institutions of Great Britain are not calculated to suit the Customs and prejudices of India and recommends greater Consideration for the Military Establishment which he thinks will eventually be necessary to Oppose the Military Character of the French Nation. 628. 608. 570.
